IKNOWA PLACE.

SO THIS IS HIGH SCHOOL

I finished my English term paper in typing class, one period before it was due.

How can they hand you a number two pencil and a sheet of paper and ask you to blacken eighteen years of knowledge into a bunch of tiny rectangles?

Yesterday, I took a Math Test in 5th period class to make up the test that I should have taken in 3rd period class, but didn't, because I was absent when 3rd period class took the test that I had to take in 5th period class.

I've worn two pair of jeans all year long

With the rise in prices, dope is costing me too damn much.

I wenty-five cents for this slop?

I must go through a thousand changes in one day

All I want is my diploma, so I can finally get the hell out of here

The classes I enjoy the most are the ones where I know the teacher personally

I sleep more in auditorium study than I do in my own bed

I learned one important thing in high school if you drink Instant Breakfast in the morning, you'll be starving by lunchtime

Everytime you raise your hand in class, the teacher puts a little check beside your name.

The time that you save by learning shorthand is spent in learning what all those little squiggles mean

I met a lot of really great kids by writing notes on desk tops

So why don't the bubblers work?

We had this sub-last week who looked like he was playing hooky from kindergarten. When he sat behind the desk, all you could see was the top of his crewcut

If I don't get some kind of deferment, I guess I'll leave the country

When I handed him my note, he said that he didn't believe I was sick. So I coughed in his face

The only time I feel that I'm accomplishing something is when I'm playing sports

I didn't know any of the kids on the election ballot, so I voted for the one who had the most a's in his name.

Have you heard from any schools yet?

Hey don't be shy with your paper

Will all the teachers please send down a list of students who were out of the classroom prior to the previous fire drill

I left it in my other notebook

No veg

What beep? I just raised my hand when all the other kids did

It took me three years to realize that marks aren't worth a damn

Every time I walk by the draft board, I remember that I didn't sign up

Becoming eighteen only means that I can legally drive after 1 A M

D'you ever try to go to the john with a busted arm? No way.

I think I have every book of Cliff Notes that was ever written

I dropped my plate and everyone started applauding

If you skip on Friday the teacher usually forgets by Monday

It's not that I'm self-conscious or anything like that; I just look funny with my glasses on.

I thought it didn't smell like a cigarette.

Please disregard the bells

I opened the door to the girl's room, and it was like one giant puff of smoke.

Is that gum on your clbow?

I cheat by writing tiny notes on my book cover, and then leaving the book on my desk during the test

I'm not paying fifty cents for a lousy test tube.

What periods do we skip?

The bell rings and we move like a huge flock of obedient sheep

Doesn't anyone else know these cheers?

I just found out that we're having a surprise quiz in chemistry.

I'm afraid of losing the security of high school.

Positive ID Required

Aardvark, seat number one. Albino, seat number two

It makes me feel great when people get lower grades than me

Do you boys have permission?

After you memorize the 629 theorems, geometry's not so bad

Your homework tonight is to review for the test.

Marching in the band is okay, if you don't mind having chipped teeth.

At first she slapped me; later she thanked me.

I just don't have the time to join any clubs.

The days that I have my homework, she doesn't collect it

At least your acne is on your back, where it doesn't show as much and I don't want any excuses.

What d'you call a Portagee who

He said he was counting that test three times,

But everybody else is smoking it!

Ziblonsky, seat number forty-five. Zonkra, bring a chair tomorrow

ALLISON R. DORMAN. THE MAN THE TEACHER. THE PRINCIPAL EMERITUS

her Dormon was a prominent figure in adacational circles during the 1920's 1930's and 1940's. After mandatory retirement, he became a Representative to the General Court of the Commonwealth of Manuschusetts and with the standard mentweath younger, he represented his action of New Bedford daily with partiring vigor. This vigor which permeated all his life standard from the beginnings which placed him nameng the ener who played the first backetball games in not only Manuschusetts but in the United States life kept in constant physical condition by acting as a referee, by coaching high school teams while constantly his long into frame was soon striding through the corridors of New Bedford High School. "Always "on duty"

This was a mon who was respected by his students, admired by his faculty, when he was head of the Busineer Education Department; and then when he was Principal of New Bedford High School, Perhaps, in this day from of his policies might be questioned, but they would be questioned only by those whose abilities must not able to reach the heights he demanded. He was always accessible for a shat about a problem; every week he personally brought you your pay check and had a measure to chat with you, while every player, first hant or second, was known to him by his first named He was truly Principal Emeritary. Band I consider mayoulf fortunate to have had the opportunity to have been one of the teachers on his security.

THE DURFEE RALLY

N.B.H.S. DUMPS DURFEE, CATCHES 2nd PLACE

The N B.H. "11" ended this season's campaign with a noteworthy 6-1-1 performance. This record gave the Crimson 2nd berth in the Bristol County League, finishing just behind Attleboro (7-1), In its 8 tall contexts, the Whalers defeated Bishop Stang. Coyle, Taunton, N B. Vocational, Chicopee Commerce, and Durfee. They succumbed only once — this to Attleboro — and tied Bishop Feehan in their other encounters

The season was brought to a climax with a convincing 21-8 victory over Durfee High in the Thanksgiving Day battle. This classic traditionally played on Thursday, was very untraditionally played on a Saturday due to inclement weather

Much credit should be given to Coach Joe Bettencourt and his representatives on the field of battle for their fine efforts. All too often, the spectator merely sees the boys' polished performances in an actual contest. One must remember, however, that many hours of stances, starts, blocking, tackling, and agility drills went into molding this successful ball club

"Athletics is the equalizer among all". On the football field no political tactics may be applied. The situation may be simplified to the following: the team with the greater talent and desire is the team which eventually triumphs. Moreover, many observers feel

SOCCER CRIMSON KICKERS SNATCH NEW ENGLAND CROWN

"Pride, Respect, and Loyalty" — these are the qualities Coach Bob Parker looked for team members to possess. However, Coach Parker might have included one other quality inherent in his boys, when talking with our sports staff interviewer. Undoubtedly, it was the N B.H. Booters' ability to Win!

The invincible "Crimson Machine" compiled an eye-opening 25-0-0 season. They won 18 games in league play and 7 others in tournament contests. These impressive statistics all contributed to New Bedford High's successful quest for its first New England soccer title.

Although the team was truly awesome with its depth of talent, the going was not "all downhill" for our band of booters. At one point in the schedule, the team was forced to play 10 games, spanning 17 days. Because the state tourney commenced November 1, the Crimson were simultaneously playing their regular season circuit which did not terminate until November 12! Moreover, many hours of practice — heading, trapping, passing, and shooting into the net — were expended in making our soccer unit a solid contender this year.

At this time, we, the "Crimson Log" staff, would like to extend our sincerest congratulations in hehalf of the entire school to Coach Bob Parker and his "kicky" kids for their fine efforts.

CROSS-COUNTRY MISSED IT BY THAT MUCH

This year's N.B.H.S. cross country team recently concluded their season with a respectable 4-2 mark. This record was 2nd only to Attleboro for top spot in the Southeastern Massachusetts League. New Bedford's victims included Stang, Durfee, Coyle and Taunton. It was Attleboro, however, who assumed the role of the "spoiler" this season, beating the Crimson once in a regular season encounter and again in the Southeastern Mass. League Meet. As a consequence of this latter defeat, New Bedford High finished — guess what!

2nd in the aforementioned meet

Cross country, as a spectator sport, is not nearly as publicized as a football or basketball clash Nonetheless, it requires the same motivation and desire, if the participant is to excel. Coach Ralph Perry told our sports interviewer that no one who tries out for the squad is cut. Dedication is the one essential attribute which the prospective cross country candidate must possess. With practice entailing runs of 5 to 10 miles around the Whaling City Golf Links, there is little question as to why one must perforce be dedicated to this athletic pursuit. For Coach Perry, "Those who matter are those who care."

Lately, in many newspaper articles, much controversy has been aroused as to whether participation in sports really aids in building one's character. Perhaps no other sport supports this premise any more substantially than cross country. When running until one is able to drop, it is of the utmost necessity that the individual rely upon endurance and mental discipline in finishing out the exhausting "heats". As the adage goes, "Quitters always quit and hitters always hit"

WINTER TRACK

"Complete with a Chill, a Huff and a Puff"

N.B.H S. Winter Track Program
"Complete with a Chill, a Huff and a Puff"

With but 3 meets remaining, the '72 Winter Track Team has already "done itself proud" by compiling 6 victories in 7 outings. Included on this impressive list of conquests are: Dartmouth, Fairhaven, Falmouth, Barnstable, Tabor Academy, and Dennis-Yarmouth Although the squad of 34, led by Coach Ponte and co-Captains Richard Nichols and Mike McCann, is installed in no formal league as such, they find ample competition in the Southeastern Massachusetts Developmental Track Association. This association includes teams from the nearby Capeway Conference

In regard to next year's newly-created Southeastern Massachusetts Athletic Conference, where some people seem to feel that the high school has a supposed advantage by virtue of the large enrollment and the size of players for football competition, this argument has no validity whatsoever when applied to winter track. How can a team truly call themselves first-rate, if they are unwilling to prove equal to answering the challenges of all schools? This is especially true of winter track where size is not the essential attribute, but where perseverance of the individual and natural ability wholly dominate

In training his charges for competitive meets, involving such events as the 45-yard hurdles, the 50-300-, 600-, 1000-yard, mile and 2-mile runs, and relay heats. Coach Ponte has implemented what is referred to as the "interval training" technique. Thus far, he has met with considerable success as evidenced by the team's fine 6 to 1 record. Members of the squad run in groups against a time limit which is made constantly more demanding. On a typical day, the jocks might engage in twelve ½-mile runs, with 1-minute rest periods interspersed. Coach Ponte further went on to state that his runners are so dedicated to keeping their bodies in fine tone that they'd probably disown him if he called off any practices. One can easily believe this statement. After all, why else are we getting a new high school come September? Only because the track team has practiced so fervently on the 3rd floor for so many years that the structure is no longer safe to inhabit . . . it has become that RUN D

BASKETBALL N.B.H.S. "GLOBE TROTTERS" GALLOP TOWARD STATE TITLE

N.B.H.S. "Globe-Trotters" Gallop Toward State Title

The New Bedford High School basketball squad finds itself in the midst of another banner year. Thus tar, the varsity is 9-1 in Bristol County League action and 11-2 for its overall efforts. Though the regular season has not ended at the time of this writing, the team's record, as of now, is a fair indicator of how it will fare in remaining games

Although the Crimson basketeers take each of their 18 games as they come, the squad is excertly awaiting the chance to show their prowess on a state level. To be eligible for this prestigious elimination event, a team must compile victories in 65% of its games or, hopefully in the case of New Bedford High, the team may also qualify by winning their league title. Through constant drilling and "just plain hard work. Coach Lombardo has again molded all the available talent into a solid contending team this season. This is where a coach is so important to the squad. If a team has much individual ability but is not well-coordinated as a whole, chances are slim of a successful outcome.

Coach Lombardo speaks of basketball in terms of life with its many "ups and downs". It's fine when a team has a comfortable lead, be it in a game or in league standings. There's always that instance out of the shadow of fate, however, when one is called upon to prove himself equal to the task. This moment may present itself when the "Star" player fouls out of an important game early in the 3rd quarter, with an un timely injury, or a bad call by the ref. Regardless of the situation, the coach has tried to instill incentive in his players to rise to the occasion and never faiter

Mr. Lombardo's philosophy is a formidable one to fault, and his basketball team — even more so!
